How Are They Applied

There are five simple steps to getting an airbrush tattoo:

First: The skin where the tattoo will be applied is thoroughly cleaned with rubbing alcohol to remove any dirt or oil.

Second: The stencil that is to be used is also cleaned.

Third: The tattoo is airbrushed on. This can take fifteen to twenty minutes, depending on the number of colors and the intricacy of the design. Depending on the stencil you choose, there may be several stages with different layers.

Fourth: The overspray is removed, again with rubbing alcohol.

Fifth: The tattoo is dusted with talc to help it dry and set it.
